

MAINTENANCE LOAN

Here's what you should know

Everyone is entitled to the maintenance loan, but this one is calculated differently to your tuition loan.

This time, it's based on your household income. If your parents are living together, it will be based on both of their joint/combined incomes.

If your parents are separated, then it will be determined on the parent you live with the most.

If your parent finds a new partner, it will be again based on the combined income of the two.

MAINTENANCE LOAN

This helps cover anything that the Tuition Loan doesn't

Such as:

- Rent
- Food
- Bills
- Social Activities
- Books
- Travel
- Household Items (Cleaning)
- Other expenses (Printing)

